II. Remedies

If you, as a data subject, would like to exercise your rights that accrue to you concerning GDPR and Act CXII of 2011, you may at any time turn to our data protection officer using the contact data specified in III., and you do not need to fill in any documents to do so. Our users will have the following rights:

- right to the information in connection with data processing and to the processed data (Right of Access, Article 15, GDPR)
- right to rectify inaccurate data or to complete incomplete data (Right to rectification, Article 16, GDPR)
- right to ask for the erasure of personal data, and – if the personal data have been published – the right of notifying other data controllers handling the data of the request to erase the data (Right to erasure, Article 17, GDPR)

- right to the restriction of data processing (Right to restriction of processing, Article 18, GDPR)
- right for the data subject to receive the personal data concerning him or her in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable form, furthermore, to ask for these data to be transmitted to another data controller (right to data portability, Article 20, GDPR)
- right to object to the data being processed, in order for the data processing to be stopped (right to object, Article 21, GDPR)
- right to revoke your consent in order for the data processing done on the basis of your consent to be stopped. The withdrawal of the consent does not affect the legality of the data processing done before the withdrawal (Conditions for consent, Article 7, GDPR)
- right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, if you think that the data processing breaches the terms of GDPR or Act CXII of 2011 (Right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, Article 77, GDPR).

In the case where the rights of the data subject are breached, the data subject may turn to court. The judgement of the lawsuit may be the jurisdiction of the court (the contact for Budapest Környéki Törvényszék: 1146 Budapest, Hungária krt. 179-187. 1590 Budapest, Pf. 225/3). At the request of the data subject, the lawsuit may be submitted to the court that has jurisdiction at the permanent or temporary address of the data subject. The court will discuss the case out of turn.

If the data controller causes damage to others by the illegal processing of the data of the data subject or by breaching the terms and conditions of the applicable data protection laws, the data controller shall pay damages. If the data controller breaches the personal rights of the data subject by the illegal processing of the data of the data subject or by breaching the terms and conditions of applicable data protection laws, the data subject shall have the right to request the data controller to pay a grievance award. The data controller shall also be held responsible for the damages caused by the data processor to the data subject. The data controller shall not be held responsible if the damage is caused by unavoidable events that are out of scope of the data processing. The data controller shall not pay the damages to the extent that they are aroused by the purposeful or materially negligent behaviour of the data subject.

The data subject may obtain remedies or lodge a complaint at the Hungarian National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information:
